

Minnesota Department of Human Services

The Minnesota Department of Human Services needs your help to improve supports for people with developmental disabilities and their families. We are committed to connecting with families, hearing your voices, and collecting your experiences. We know your time is valuable, your lives are busy, and time is precious, but please fill this survey out and send it in.

The attached questionnaire is one way we can get your opinions and ideas. It is part of the National Core Indicators survey that the federal government conducts across states to find out how well developmental disability services meet family needs. Then the results are compared across states. The Minnesota Department of Human Services will use your input to help us improve services for Minnesota families and people with developmental disabilities.

When you mail the survey back in the enclosed pre-paid envelope it will go to Vital Research, an independent research firm working with the Minnesota Department of Human Services. The firm will add up all the responses and send the TOTAL results to the Minnesota Department of Human Services. Case managers, providers, support workers, counties and the state will NOT know how any individual family responded. No individual survey responses will come back to the Minnesota Department of Human Services. Your comments will be collected and sent in without your names.

Answer the questions as honestly as you can, secure in the knowledge that your responses are confidential. Tell us what works, and tell us what needs improvement. Your privacy is very important to us. And this survey is very important to all Minnesota families of people with developmental disabilities.
