Photo of rock outcropping at the southeast edge of the Blue Mound, approximately 2,500 feet northeast of the Manfred House, facing northwest.
Manfred House, facing northwest
Manfred House, depicting integration into the Blue Mound, facing southwest
Manfred House, with view to the southeast toward the Rock River, facing southeast
South elevation, depicting the projecting prow, facing north
West elevation of the projecting prow, facing east
Masonry detail, east section of the house, facing northwest
East end of the house depicting integration into the cliff wall, facing southwest
West end of house with cliff wall, facing northeast
Stone wall at west end of house depicting integration into the cliff wall, facing north
Projecting stone parapet wall and masonry mass of the fireplace with view toward the Rock River, facing southeast
Tepee and views to the southwest, facing southwest
Cantilevered fireplace in the living area, facing northeast
Fireplace and adjacent living rock wall in the living area, facing northeast