FRUSTRATION CAN BE RISKY

When we are frustrated, irritated or discouraged, we are more likely to...

- Rush
- Be distracted by our thoughts
- Take shortcuts
- Overlook hazards

...and spend time in medical care for an injury!

It took 10 months for me to learn to tie a lace; I must have howled with rage and frustration. But one day I could tie my laces. That no one can take from you. I profoundly distrust the pedagogy of ease.
--George Steiner

RELAX AND STAY SAFE

- Take several deep breaths to calm your mind.
- Share your frustration with a friend, coworker, supervisor, or employee assistance program (EAP)
- Write or journal about your frustration
- Learn new stress management skills through LifeMatters EAP or with a StayWell health coach
- Seek the help of a professional if your frustrations are becoming difficult to manage.
