Name of Property: Daniel S. Piper House (NRIS 75001028)Address: 6523 County Road 45 NorthCity/Township: MedfordCounty: SteeleReason for Removal: The property has ceased to meet the criteria for listing because the qualities which caused it to be listed have been lost or destroyed (36 CFR 60.15 (a)).Dates and Nature of Change: Demolished, in part, November 2024Comments:

Listed on February 24, 1975, the Daniel S. Piper House is significant as "Minnesota's only known surviving example of an interconnected New England style farmstead, where all the farm buildings; wood shed, summer kitchen, granary, barn, and farm house, are constructed as one contiguous building. The architectural style reflects the 'Yankee' heritage of the Piper family."¹ The property is listed under Criterion A and C in the areas of Agriculture, Architecture, and Other: Immigration and Settlement.

According to the significance statement of the nomination "Daniel Piper immigrated to Minnesota in 1877, purchasing the farm in November of that year. He commenced construction of the complex, utilizing the talents of four master carpenters from New Hampshire, who completed the building late in 1877. Materials for the building were top grade, as Piper had been a lumberman in the East, and he personally supervised their selection."²

It is noted in the nomination that the barn was in need of major structural repair at the time of listing. In January of 2024, the SHPO received an inquiry from the owner seeking to remove the property from the National Register because the city would not issue a demolition permit for a listed property. At the time, the barn was in significant disrepair but still standing. The SHPO informed the owner that the house maintained sufficient historic integrity to remain listed. On November 21, 2024, the local paper reported the collapse of the barn. The owner reached out to SHPO in October 2025 to, again, request removal from the National Register.

When it was added to the National Register, the Daniel S. Piper House retained the seven aspects of integrity (location, setting, design, workmanship, materials, feeling, and association). The property retains the integrity of location and setting. However, the loss of the barn diminishes the design, workmanship, materials, feeling, and association of the property. While much of the building remains intact the property cannot convey its historic significance as an "integrated connected" structure without the barn.

It is possible that historical archaeological remains are present on the farmstead. However, no archaeological survey has been conducted previously, and this was not an area of significance in the original nomination. Therefore, it is not known if an archaeological component exists, and further, there is no mechanism for such an investigation to occur at the present time.
