

Interstate Medical Licensure Compact

December 15, 2020

For Immediate Release

The Interstate Medical Licensure Compact Commission (IMLCC) is pleased to announce that Marschall Smith has accepted the opportunity to continue in the role as Executive Director. The change is only in the status of how the position is being filled, converting from independent contractor to full-time employee.

Earlier this year the IMLCC changed direction from staffing positions with independent contractors to hiring direct employees. The executive director role was the final position to be converted.

The position of executive director plays a key leadership role for the IMLCC and it was decided that the position should be open, competitive and an exhaustive national search was undertaken, which resulted in the IMLCC receiving and considering more than 70 applications.

Mr. Smith brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to the position as well as a proven track record with the Compact, having acted in this capacity for over three years. During that time the Compact has successfully seen rapid growth and multiple changes in technology and procedure. The IMLCC looks forward to Mr. Smith's continued efforts to increase state participation and cement the IMLCC's position as a leader in medical regulation.
