The committee’s recommendation on length of approvals for prohibited procedures will be determined by:
- What the committee is requesting and how much time is needed to complete tasks
- What is needed absolutely to help with phasing out the procedure
- Whether or not it is a longstanding behavior and if it is likely to change any time soon
- Provider efforts to reduce the need for the procedure and whether or not the provider complied with previous recommendations from the committee
- What type of procedure the committee is approving

  o The performance management team at DHS offered to help the committee to update the Positive Support Transition Plan and related documents later in 2018. Both groups will consider ways to rephrase questions to encourage better collection of useful and informative data.
  o The committee coordinator will ask the Olmstead office if there is any additional information it would like from the committee’s annual reports.

• Discussion of Minn. R. 9544.0130, subp. 3E
  o We will continue this conversation at the next meeting. Some considerations mentioned at the last meeting include:
    ▪ Different types of competency are likely needed for different roles: developer, implementer, supervisor
    ▪ Competency likely varies by type of provider
    ▪ Training requirements for functional behavior assessments (FBAs) are more rigorous, which should be reflected in Positive Support Transition Plans (PSTP) since an FBA is required to provide the content for a PSTP
    ▪ More qualified professionals coach or support many plan authors, but other authors work solo and may need more training
- A PSTP or a PSTP review may work as an assessment measure, but the competency assessment should likely be done before work is started on a plan
  - Content that might be relevant to this conversation includes Minn. R. 9544.0090, DHS form 6810B, Minn. R. 9544.0020, subp. 47 and Minn. R. 9544.0040.
