What You Need to Know:

- Certain adults (19 - 64) must now meet a new monthly work requirement to qualify for Medicaid and keep their coverage. Some states have already started the new requirement and others will start soon.
- Impacted adults must complete at least 80 hours each month of work or other approved activities.
- The hours can come from any combination of work, education, certain job training, and community service, as long as the monthly total adds up to 80 hours or more.
- The new requirement doesn't apply to some adults. Select the button above to find out if you're impacted.

Next Steps:

1. Make sure your state has your current information (like address, phone number, and email address) so they can contact you about the new work requirement.
2. Check your mail, email, and text messages for official program updates so you don't miss important information or deadlines.
3. Report any changes that may impact your Medicaid eligibility (like income, household size, or other life changes).
