OCCUPATIONAL THERAPIST

KIND OF WORK

Beginning professional occupational therapy work.

NATURE AND PURPOSE

An employee in this class employs professional occupational therapeutic techniques as part of the total treatment and rehabilitation of residents in a state institution. Treatment programs are determined in conference with supervisors, physicians and members of the treatment team. This employee is responsible for observing progress of individual residents and for making recommendations of programming based upon their response with emphasis upon measurable improvement. Supervision is received from a Senior Occupational Therapist or Therapist Supervisor but the employee is expected to develop a program to meet the occupational therapy needs of the individual or group with which he is working.
