for programs serving the handicapped
Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 states: "No person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance." Therefore, every program or activity receiving financial assistance from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare must be operated in compliance with this law.

THE OFFICE FOR HANDICAPPED INDIVIDUALS

In 1974 the Office was established by Congress to lend cohesion, increase communication, and develop consistent goals to the efforts of all government programs for handicapped individuals.

OHI acts as an advisory arm to the Secretary and Assistant Secretaries of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Because it has no programmatic granting or funding authority of its own, the Office is in a position to serve as an advocate for all handicapped constituencies and for all types and levels of governmental planning, evaluation of programs, and improvement of information resources among service providers and handicapped individuals.

OHI has identified more than 200 pertinent Federal programs and activities serving handicapped persons with over $22 billion dollars in annual Federal appropriations. Working to coordinate and collectively improve these resources is a complicated task. Activities in support of coordinated planning and coordination include:

- Surveys of handicapped consumers to identify perceived needs...
- Surveys of Federal programs to determine short and long range goals, planning activities, and coordination opportunities...
- Activities aimed at developing reliable statistics concerning individuals with handicapping conditions...
- Formation of advisory and cooperative relationships between OHI and other public & private organizations representing or serving handicapped persons...
- Assistance and support to the implementation of recommendations made by the White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals.

CLEARINGHOUSE ON THE HANDICAPPED

A national Clearinghouse in OHI seeks to improve the lives of handicapped individuals by enhancing the flow of information. The Clearinghouse on the Handicapped has two roles: (1) responding to inquiries from handicapped individuals, and (2) serving as a resource to organizations that supply information to, and about, handicapped individuals.
Information on the majority of programs listed in this Directory was excerpted from the 1977 Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance. For brevity's sake, only the most critical elements of catalog information were retained, but users may wish to consult the full catalog entries. All programs excerpted form the OMB catalog retain their OMB identification number.

Information on a small number of programs was originally collected through a survey conducted by the Office for Handicapped Individuals querying all Federal departments and agencies on their activities serving the handicapped. This information was updated and programs are recognizable by their BY-15 numbers. In some instances information received through this survey was inserted in the OMB text if the latter made no specific mention to the handicapped, in other cases inserts explaining the relevance of a program for the handicapped were developed from supplementary material.

Most of the listed programs provide assistance to the handicapped or people working with or for them. Some programs are serving a larger segment of the population, but are mandated to spend a certain percentage of funds for serving the handicapped. Medical research programs which have implication in the field of handicaps are listed by title, as are programs of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration, which is committed to facilitate mass transportation systems that can be used by handicapped individuals.

Fund developers and service providers are urged to consult the full OMB catalog. Since many handicapped individuals have a very limited income, they may qualify for programs oriented towards the disadvantaged. These programs have not been included, by and large. Aged handicapped individuals may be eligible for programs serving the aged which have not been included in this selection. Many more health-oriented programs exist than are listed in this catalog.

Programs to alleviate problems of alcoholism and drug abuse have been listed because of the inclusion of these two categories in the Section 504 Regulations of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. Programs protecting civil rights are included because of their obvious implications for handicapped individuals. Programs are no longer presented in agency order but according to four categories - formula grants to states, project grants, direct payments, and non-financial assistance. A subject index and an index on applicant eligibility are provided in the back.

Since funding through formula grants must be explored with the administering state agency, a selection of the most important state agencies serving the handicapped have been included. Finally there is a listing of resources for funding information and a small selection of bibliographic references to the numerous books in the funding field.

I. INTRODUCTION AND SUMMARY
by David Braddock, Ph.D.

Fifteen or twenty years ago a publication pointing readers toward Federal Government resources and programs for people with disabilities would have been short and easy reading. It could probably have been reviewed in roughly the amount of time one ordinarily spends with an informative newsletter. Today, a veritable financial tome awaits your examination. This observation is not meant as a criticism -- just a contrasting, contemporary description of the increased complexity inherent today in trying to comprehensively gauge and report upon the entire federal effort in the disability area. This complexity derives essentially from three historical characteristics of American Government in action which warrant brief discussion.

First, government, and especially the institutions used by government to allocate financial resources, have experienced unprecedented growth over the past two decades. Federal Government expenditures have increased by nearly seven-fold in constant dollars from the relatively modest budgetary aggregate of $69 billion in 1955 to a proposed $463 billion for President Carter's 1978 budget. Most of the increased allocations are for nondefense, domestic purposes. In fact, a Brookings Institution analysis reports that 75% of the proposed 1978 federal budget is to be directed toward nondefense activities. Only six years ago, the Defense Department's budget alone exceeded the Health, Education and Welfare Departmental budget. But today, 75% of the 1978 Federal Government budget -- $347 billion -- flows into four general types of nondefense programs:

- Benefit Payment Programs, such as Supplemental Security Income, Social Security, and Public Assistance;
- Social Investment Programs, such as educational and health program development funding;
- Physical Investment in Natural Resources and Commerce, such as transportation systems; and,
- Aid to State and Local Governments, such as in General Revenue Sharing.

These four expenditure categories account for virtually all of the nondefense obligations to be incurred in Fiscal Year 1978 by the Federal Government. Interests of people with disabilities are bound up in some measure with most of the hundreds of programs, departments, agencies, and bureaus that have been given responsibility to deploy these funds. Hence, one must not rule out a specific assistance program as a potential source of disability funds or services just because its statutory purposes are general and handicapped individuals are not precisely stipulated as eligible recipients. The General Revenue Sharing program is one such underutilized example that comes immediately to mind. Conversely, a person may have a "certified" handicap but he or she may also possess an affirmative eligibility as a veteran, a poor person, a woman, a senior citizen or simply, a citizen. We must indeed learn to be more clever and tenacious in the future in seeking disability funds and look beyond the traditional categories, label, and entitlements to which we have become accustomed. This is one product of big government to which we must increasingly adjust.

A second characteristic of American Government in action in recent decades also makes very complex the task of just comprehensively describing the federal effort in the disability field. More than 100 discrete legislative programs or provisions of law specifically authorizing sums of money to be spent only upon programs or for persons with handicaps have been enacted. Most of these programs are still on the books today, it being highly uncharacteristic of government to ever abandon a mission it once chooses to undertake, however narrow. Consequently, the often-criticized characteristic of fragmentation prevails because so many administratively separate disability program elements are scattered throughout Federal Government operations.

But in government, totally new structures are really rarely created. They are rather grafted into or imposed upon the existing organizational order. The disability field has experienced this over two decades of steady evolutionary growth. Program development has been marked by the enactment of extensive legislation and appropriations thereto, by the establishment of presidential advisory bodies, by the creation of executive agency structures and congressional committees with missions/serving the handicapped, and by the budgeting of funds for the literally dozens of financial assistance programs outlined in this book. A mosaic of federal disability support has evolved -- albeit fragmented and often insufficient -- in health, education, rehabilitation, public welfare, Social Security, veterans programs, basic and applied research, and in many other areas. Disability has emerged as the focus of substantial federal activity on behalf of a special population of American citizens.

Another characteristic of the American system of government is critical in terms of how federal dollars are actually made available for intended programs or purposes. This is the principle of Federalism. The Tenth Amendment to the United States Constitution provides that "powers not delegated to the Federal Government are reserved respectively to the states, or to the people." From this Eighteenth century constitutional statement stems our basic notion of dividing jurisdictional responsibilities between Federal and State Governments. The fiscal implications of Federalism are enormous in that states, and also other special purpose units of local subdivision governments, often share with the Federal Government the administrative responsibilities for disbursing categorical or block grant funds. But until the 1930's, when municipal bankruptcy legislation was enacted, there were virtually no National Government programs involving a direct relationship with local units of government. Local turf was seen as the inviolate territory of the state or the locality itself, and this tradition is deeply imbedded in our system of public administration. Hence, many of the national programs delineated in this financial assistance catalogue deploy funds to so-called "designated" state agencies which in turn make these funds available for specific purposes to eligible applicants on a state-wide basis. Sometimes the state has considerable latitude to determine spending priorities, as in the Title XX Social Services program.

DEBUNKING BUDGET CALCULATIONS

Something is absolutely sorcerous about the way in which the Federal Government reports to the public how much money is being spent on a particular program or purpose. Estimates, for example, on the total amount of federal funds presently being spent for programs for disabled persons are in the range of $20 billion annually. Individual programs such as the Supplemental Security Income Program, Medicaid, and Veterans Programs report annual fund totals that exceed the entire annual budgets of all except for a few entire state governments or one of our biggest cities. The mind has difficulty grasping the true meaning of these sums. When these multibillion dollar figures are publically reported by government as straightforward evidence of the intensity of federal or state concern for disabled people, one is understandably moved. Vast sums of money are being spent, aren't they? Why, then, does such a large gap exist between what is spent and what is done?

One answer is in the way cost-analysis or program budgeting calculations are made, which is by extrapolating often misleading totals from the global level of program effort being made for many purposes other than disability alone. What portion of Federal Highway Trust Funds are consumed by disabled drivers on the road? What portion of fiscal activity is attributable to disability research in the basic research budget of the National Institutes of Health (NIH)? Unfortunately, it is just plain easier for the persons preparing cost-analysis estimates to usually include, when in doubt, all funds potentially relevant to the problem; to prepare, for instance, an accurate NIH fiscal record on disability would require an individual criterion-referenced review and longitudinal follow-up of virtually every intramural and extramural research grant, research contract, or intramural expenditure made by the agency.

Similarly, with a highly decentralized service program like the $2.5 billion Social Services Block Grant Program, states exercise such latitude in categories of expenditures and federal reporting that only the roughest national estimate is possible. For many programs "the handicapped" are not separately broken-out by accounting cells or expenditure categories.

In short, the ability to predict or project total federal expenditures for persons with disabilities or for literally dozens of other subsets of the American population is very poor, and therefore easily misleading.
The totals that are reported may have an authoritative air about them, but perhaps this is only because they are announced by a government agency, congressman, or president seeking to assuage the public's nagging fears of continuing inattention to a pressing social problem.

HOW DO I USE THIS BOOK TO OBTAIN ASSISTANCE?

The first thing you do is read it carefully. Yes, every last monotonous page. Do not assume that the compilers could possibly have assembled the book as neatly as a Sears Catalogue where you just flip to the index and look up "refrigerators" on page thus and such. In fact, don't hesitate to go to the original source document; The Catalogue of Federal Domestic Assistance. Although all of the information contained in this book is relevant to disability in some way, the book's actual organization is pretty arbitrary and you will miss a lot if you read only some individual sections and skip others. Try to get an idea from your first reading of the breadth of federal programs. We believe you will be surprised at the number of assistance programs potentially relevant to your interests. Write each of these pertinent programs down as part of the shopping list you have now begun to develop.

Next, focus in on one program that especially interests you. Re-read the entire text just as it has been repinted from the current Catalogue of Federal Domestic Assistance. Pay special attention to the subsections stipulating eligibility, to make sure you may be, and information contacts, to tell you where to go next. For most programs, phone numbers and addresses are given but this is only a moderately reliable tool -- a beginning. People in federal and state jobs change positions or are transferred and bureaus are abolished daily; published phone numbers and addresses keep track of these events about as well as a year-old city telephone directory. You should, therefore, prepare for a potentially labyrinthian journey, depending upon the variables encountered, remembering along the way that you want to establish on-going contact with a person well-informed about responsibility for the program in which you are interested. Realize especially that like any large organization, departments of Federal Government have many employees who have little knowledge of what is going on in another agency. Learn to identify knowledgeable people who will become your best sources of information when you are spinning your wheels and getting bounced back and forth from one agency to another. Be open and honest with them about your intentions and they will be formidable allies. Above all, be tenacious but polite.

Learn also to use coordinating offices, such as the Office for Handicapped Individuals (OHI), and referral centers, for starting points. Staff at these coordinating or informational agencies are usually eager to help and are knowledgeable, especially if they have been in the business for awhile. But be forewarned that many so-called Federal Information Centers may refer you to an employee who is not knowledgeable about disability and is not in a position to be of much help. For example, as a test we recently called the Federal Information Center in a state that shall remain nameless and asked an open-ended question: What Federal Government programs is a person with a handicap eligible for? The information provider was thoroughly stumped. She could only instruct us that "this type of information is available only through the individual federal agencies." We were not told "I don't know" or referred to the OHI or to the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped or to the Executive Office of the President for help; rather, we were, with good intentions, directed to diffuse our personal energies throughout the largest governmental structure in the history of Western Civilization: The Federal Bureaucracy. But, this will change as information producers learn more about the jargon of disability and also the names of the agencies that do have specialized knowledge about the service system. We really ask too much to expect more at this quite early point in the development of government's capacity to conceive of individuals with handicaps and the ancillary professions as a potent interest group with new and expanding informational and service needs.

CHALLENGES AHEAD

"When I was inaugurated Governor of Georgia in January of 1971, I made a speech, and I said in that Southern State the time for racial discrimination is over, and I say to you tonight the time for discrimination against the handicapped in the United States is over."

May 23, 1977
President Jimmy Carter
to the First White House Conference on Handicapped Individuals

The year 1977 will later be remembered as a watershed point in the rapidly developing history of the disability field. This is so partly because of several key events such as initial implementation of Section 504 civil rights legislation, the holding of a White House Conference, the substantial entry of the Federal Government into underwriting the education of handicapped children; in trends toward deinstitutionalization, affirmative action, and in the formation of heretofore new coalitions of people with disabilities advocating more articulately for themselves than non-disabled people ever could hope to do for them. These events signal a sense of agitation afoot, of dissatisfaction, and of the new and renewed commitment that are often the precursors of positive social change. But the historical neglect in our society's attitude toward and treatment of people with disabilities, especially people with severe disabilities, is deeply rooted. Such patiently suffered abuse and injustice have become even more unendurable now that the genuine expectation of escaping them is beginning to cross more men's and women's minds. Sensitivities and expectations have become very acute.
Setting and sustaining an authentic national priority upon providing comprehensive services and financial assistance to Americans with disabilities will probably have increasing future appeal to politicians and others charged with resource allocation decisions, particularly when the beyond-charity realization comes that this special population cuts across economic, ethnic, geographical and also political lines. Building a stronger consensus on this reality than now exists will continue to be a major challenge in U.S. public policy.
SECTION 1

FORMULA GRANTS TO STATES

Introduction

This section presents an inventory of formula grants made available to states and localities (designated by "A"); and also, similar formula grant programs which contain a certain amount of monies for special projects of regional or national significance (designated by "A, B").

In order to receive a formula grant, State applicants must submit an operating plan to the Federal Government specifying how they will spend the money in accordance with the appropriate guidelines. Information on the State operating plan is available from the State administering agency.

(A) Formula grants to States provide support to ongoing State programs usually for improvement, expansion or innovation. States are automatically eligible for a share of these funds. The amount of funds each State receives is determined by a formula which takes many factors into account. Factors commonly used are population, unemployment rate, income levels and numbers of disabled persons or disabled veterans. The formula is set by law and each formula is unique. Public or private organizations wishing to explore funding of projects under formula grants at the State level must directly contact the administering State office. Matching funds may be required.

(A,B) Some formula grant programs contain a specific amount of monies for special projects of regional or national significance. These programs operate under the same guidelines as "A" type grants, except that by law, a certain amount of money is set aside by the Federal administering agency to also fund special projects. Public or private organizations wishing to explore funding through the special projects component must directly contact the Federal or regional office of the appropriate Federal administering agency.

The more than 20 inclusions in this section run a wide gamut in terms of the Federal administering agencies involved, the relative amounts of funds available, and the breadth or narrowness of program mission. Four Cabinet-level Federal Departments and the Veteran's Administration are represented. These are Agriculture, Labor (DOL), Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). Most of the formula grant programs included are administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, but HUD and DOL operate large and important programs in which disabled people can be and should become more involved. These are respectively the HUD Community Development Block Grant Program and the DOL Comprehensive Training and Employment Act. In each of these cases, citizens of local communities and also state government are involved in the setting of priorities which can include, for example, the development of adaptive and alternative community housing arrangements and also, job training and employment. Three Veterans Administration Programs provide relatively small formula grants to states operating VA approved but state run domiciliary care, nursing care and state hospital care.

All other formula grant programs listed in this Section are administered by HEW and they run the range from educational grant programs in vocational and special education to health-related programs of assistance in maternal and child health, crippled children services, and alcohol and drug abuse prevention and treatment. Two programs administered by HEW's recently organized Office of Human Development Services are described: The Developmental Disabilities Program and the Federal Social Services Program. Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), now administered by the HEW Social Security Administration, is also presented.
PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

To provide educational programs based upon local needs in the broad fields of (1) agricultural production and marketing, (2) rural development, (3) home economics, and (4) youth development.

Home Economics Education for the Handicapped - Home economists of the State Cooperative Extension Services perform important work in local communities to help families overcome problems of living that arise when disability strikes within the family circle. Also, they are making continuous progress in training more professional home economists, paraprofessionals, and volunteers to give instructions to the handicapped.

Extension 4-H Programs for the Handicapped - Increased opportunities for the mentally and physically handicapped to become involved in local 4-H Youth programs are provided in many areas. In addition to special services, the handicapped are served on the same basis as others in the target population.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Grants are made to land-grant institutions which, through State and county extension service personnel, provide educational and technical assistance to (1) farmers, producers, and marketing firms on how to apply new technical developments emanating from agricultural research; (2) community organizations to develop natural, economic, and human resources; (3) homemakers and youth in the areas of food and nutrition, home management, family economics, child development, and parent education; and (4) 4-H youth in the areas of leadership development and career guidance through work projects, demonstration projects, camping, and achievement programs.

For programs that are not identified as particularly suitable or eligible for joint funding, applicant may consult the headquarters or field office of the appropriate funding agency for further information on statutory or other restrictions involved.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

Formula Grants; Project Grants.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

APPLICANT ELIGIBILITY:
Formula grants are available to State health agencies. Limited project grants are available to State Health agencies and to institutions of higher learning for special projects.

BENEFICIARY ELIGIBILITY:
Mothers, infants, and children in need of health care, and trainees in the health professions.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

State Health Agencies are required to submit certifications that meet the conditions of plan approval specified in the Social Security Act and that assure high quality service. These plans are approved by the Regional Health Director. Applications for special project grants are reviewed by the Bureau of Community Health Service central or regional staff, as appropriate and a non-Federal panel of experts. This program is subject to the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-100.

APPROPRIATIONS

(Grants)
Fiscal Year 1976 $219,200,000
TQ $61,527,000
Fiscal Year 1977 est. $225,500,000
Fiscal Year 1978 est. $225,500,000

RANGE AND AVERAGE OF FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE:
Formula: $160,000 to $18,100,00; $3,600,000.
Project: $4,400 to $345,000; $69,000.
In an effort to further reduce the Nation's infant mortality rate, increased emphasis is being given to providing family planning services through this program. Preliminary estimates indicate that about 1,970,000 women will receive services in fiscal year 1977. In fiscal year 1977, an estimated 1,865,500 children attended well-clinics. In fiscal year 1977, States were assisted in the provision of prenatal and postpartum care to approximately half of the women receiving services in clinics especially in rural areas. State Maternal and Child Health Agencies are required to carry out a program of projects in each of five areas: maternity and infant care, comprehensive care of children and youth, dental care for children, infant intensive care, and family planning. The maternity and infant care projects in fiscal year 1977 provided comprehensive health care to approximately 632,000 mothers and 171,500 infants and continued to exercise influence on reductions in infant mortality. In many of the children and youth projects, the cost of care per child is decreasing because of the emphasis on comprehensive, rather than emergency or episodic care. The extent of this should be to extend preventive services to a larger number of children in succeeding fiscal years. Approximately 993,000 children receive treatment under the dental care projects in fiscal year 1976. Intensive infant care projects provide increased medical and nursing supervision care by personnel specially trained in such fields as treatment of cardiopulmonary failure and respiratory distress in newborns, and use of special equipment in an attempt to combat high infant mortality rates for infants born prematurely or with conditions detrimental to their normal growth and development. About 1,220,000 women will receive family planning services in fiscal year 1977 through the State Maternal and Child Health program. It is expected that in fiscal year 1978 these levels will be maintained.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

To provide potential and current recipients of public assistance an array of services which will effectively assist these persons in attaining or retaining the least level of dependence on public welfare. Services are oriented toward achievement of employment, self-care and family stability.

Title XX funds are not specially earmarked for the handicapped and the social services offered by the States may or may not have eligibility limitations tied to income or other criteria. States set their own priorities on which social services are funded with Title XX monies.

Many social services needed by the handicapped fall within the scope of allowable services funded under Title XX including: Day Care for Children and Adults, Family Planning, Health-related Services, Homemaker Services, Information and Referral, Legal Services, Protective Services for Children and Adults, Recreational Services, Res. Care and Treatment, Socialization Services, Special Services - Blind, Special Services - Disabled, Transportation, Vocational Rehabilitation.

Ninety days before start of a new program year, each State publishes a display ad providing the basic information on how the State proposes to spend Title XX funds in the newspaper with the largest readership in the State. Citizens are given at least 45 days to give their comments on the State plan. It is important for the handicapped to participate in this review process and in the planning for the next program year.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Federal funds may be used for the proper and efficient operation of social service programs to enable individuals to attain or retain the capability of self-support and self-sufficiency; provide legal services, family planning, home and money management; housing improvement, child care or protective services, in addition to other services which are included in the State plan. Funds must be spent on the basis of a federally approved State plan. Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) is a program established under the Social Security Act and its amendments for the purpose of providing aid to needy dependent children who are living with parents or relatives in their own homes, in the homes of relatives, or in foster family homes or private non-profit child care institutions. In addition to AFDC money payments, there are programs of emergency assistance to families with children, and assistance to repatriated U.S. Nationals. In Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, aid to the aged, blind, and permanently and totally disabled is also administered.

Money payments are made by State Welfare Agencies directly to eligible needy families with dependent children and to the needy, aged, blind, or disabled persons in Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands to cover costs of food, shelter, clothing, and other necessary items of daily living. Payments in the form of money or vendor payments assist needy families in emergency or crisis situations. Payments are also made for care of specified children in foster homes or institutions. Up to $500 per home is available for home repairs. Under the repatriation program, money is provided for food, shelter, clothing, medical care (including hospitalization and treatment of mentally ill persons), and transportation to persons who have been returned to the United States because of destitution and who are not eligible for other financial assistance programs. Funds for State and local administration of programs are for costs of interviewing public assistance applicants for eligibility determination and validation of eligibility; costs of State and local personnel engaged in program direction and management; and other on-going costs and activities related to administering the programs.

Types of Assistance

Formula Grants.

The Federal Share for AFDC is based on a State's average monthly payment of $32 per recipient. Federal funds pay 5/6 of the first $18 of the average payment and then 50 percent to 65 percent of the balance within the Federal average maximum. If it is to the State's benefit, it may use the medicaid formula with no maximum (provided the State has a medicaid plan) which ranges from 50 to 78 percent Federal funds. The Federal share of home repairs is 50 percent with a limit of $500 in Federal and State funds for any one home. The Federal share... of payments for AFDC and the adult categories in Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands is determined by individual computation and subject to statutory ceilings.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

APPLICANT ELIGIBILITY:
State and local welfare agencies must operate under HEW-approved State Plans and must comply with all Federal regulations governing aid and assistance to needy families with dependent children, and to needy, aged, blind or permanently and totally disabled persons in Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands.

To receive Federal funds, a State must submit and have approved by the Secretary of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and State plan describing the System under which the State proposes to operate its programs. A State plan describes the aspects of State operations pertinent to the specific requirements of the Social Security Act and Federal regulations. It is a flexible instrument, readily amended to reflect changes in State law, administrative regulations, or policy. The plan must assure that the program is implemented statewide and that determination of need and amount of assistance is made on an objective and equitable basis. Within the conditions for grants-in-aid established by the public assistance titles of the Act, the States have certain options in deciding how the programs are to be organized and administered, who is eligible for aid, and how much aid eligible persons shall get.

BENEFICIAL ELIGIBILITY:
Needy families with dependent children, or those needing emergency welfare assistance; destitute repatriates; or in Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, needy, aged, blind or permanently and totally disabled persons.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

Eligible individuals - the aged, blind, or disabled, in Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, needy families with dependent children, and destitute repatriates should apply directly to the State or local Welfare Agency. States should contact SSA Regional Commissioners (see appendix) for application forms (State plans). Regional Commissioners have authority to approve State plans and amendments; disapproval authority is held by the SSA Commissioner. States contact HEW Regional Offices for applications for administrative funds.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANTS/ ENTITLEMENT GRANTS

14.218 (A)

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

To develop viable urban communities, including decent housing and a suitable living environment, and expand economic opportunities, principally for persons of low and moderate income.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

The Block Grant Program consolidates seven former community development-type categorical programs, including Urban Renewal, Model Cities, Neighborhood Facilities, Open Space Land, Historical Preservation, Urban Beautification, the Basic Water and Sewer Facilities Program, Public Facilities Loans, and Rehabilitation Loans, generally most activities previously eligible under the consolidated categorical programs are able to be performed under this program, i.e., acquisition, construction of certain public works, facilities and improvements, clearance, housing rehabilitation. Code enforcement, relocation payments and assistance, administrative expenses, and completing existing urban renewal projects. In addition, block grant activities. Communities are restricted from constructing or rehabilitating public facilities for the general conduct of government and certain community wide facilities, i.e., stadiums, sports arenas, cultural centers, central libraries, convention centers, and from underwriting the cost of constructing new housing, or of making housing allowance or other income maintenance-type payments.

Community Development Block Grants (CDBG) Funds are distributed in lump sums to a locality to be spent according to priorities set by that locality. The priorities developed do not automatically include provisions for handicapped persons so it is important that groups make their needs known to the appropriate officials. CDBG funds may be used for construction of, rehabilitation of and site acquisition for "centers for the handicapped". The funds may also be used for the demolition of existing structures, conversion of existing structures and barrier removal for "centers for the handicapped". A "center for the handicapped is defined as"...any single or multipurpose facility which seeks to assist persons with physical, mental, developmental and/or emotional impairments to become more functional members of the community by providing programs or services which may include, but are not limited to, recreation, education, health care, social development, independent living, physical rehabilitation and vocational rehabilitation; but excluding any facility, the primary function of which is, to provide residential care on a 24-hour day basis (such as a group home or halfway house). For example, a sheltered workshop.
would be a single purpose center for the handicapped, and a facility providing several services for the handicapped would be a multipurpose center for the handicapped, both of which are eligible for assistance.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

APPLICANT ELIGIBILITY:
Cities of SMSA's with populations in excess of 50,000, "urban counties," as defined in the Act, and cities with populations of under 50,000 which are central cities in SMSA's are all entitled to receive amounts of funds determined by a statutory formula. In addition, localities which received grants under the urban renewal and model cities programs will receive "hold harmless" grants based on their level of prior participation in those programs.

BENEFICIARY ELIGIBILITY:

SECTION II
PROJECT GRANTS AND CONTRACTS

Introduction

Grants and contracts differ as policy instruments in fundamental ways. The grant entails ideas usually originated and defined by the applicant. Contracts contain ideas or work requirements usually originating with the Government itself. For monetary agreements between the government and profit-making or commercial organizations the contract must be used.

(B) Money for Project Grants (designated "B") flows directly from the Federal Government to state or local governments, institutions (e.g. colleges) and public or private organizations. Money is used for specific projects, research or demonstration, services or products. Examples of project grants are: research grants, training grants, experimental and demonstration grants, evaluation grants, planning grants, construction grants, fellowship and scholarships. Applications are made by the eligible entity to the appropriate Federal offices either in the Regions or in Washington.

(P) Contracts (Designated "P") are awarded by the Federal Government when it wants specific research done or a particular problem addressed. Contracts may be awarded for personal or professional services or for any service rendered by a university, hospital, public agency or non-profit organization. Some contracts are awarded on a competitive basis. These contracts are announced by the publication of Requests for Proposals in Commerce Business Daily.

The inventory of grant or contract programs presented in this section enumerates about sixty individual programs administered by four Cabinet-level Departments and also, the Action Agency and the Veterans Administration. A considerable number of these programs, about 90%, are administered by agencies within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). The Office of Human Development Services administers disability related programs in Head Start, Vocational Rehabilitation, Developmental Disabilities, Public Assistance and also, in programs for the aging. The Bureau of Education for the Handicapped, within HEW's Office of Education, administers research, demonstrations, training and also certain service programs relevant to the education of handicapped children. The Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration, another HEW agency, administers numerous disability related research, demonadministration, training and service support programs in the areas of mental health, drug abuse, and alcoholism prevention and treatment. Many of the programs are sponsored in conjunction with Community Mental Health Centers. Family planning project grants, grants for the operation of Community Health Centers, maternal and child health research and training, and also home health services, are administered by the HEW Health Services Administration.

The Departments of Housing and Urban Development, Labor, and also Transportation administer significant project grant or contract programs in, respectively, rent subsidies, and special housing construction or remodeling grants; employment research and demonstration; and capital improvement of urban mass transportation systems. Grants for construction and remodeling of state homes, nursing homes, hospitals and domiciliary facilities for veterans are also described in this section. This program is administered by the Veterans Administration. Finally, the Action Agency operated the Foster Grandparent and Senior Companion programs which provide grants for special projects serving persons with disabilities.

COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CENTERS-COMPREHENSIVE 13.295 (B)
SERVICES SUPPORT

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

To provide comprehensive mental health services through a community mental health center via six grant programs: facilities assistance; planning grants; grants for initial operations; consultation and education services; conversion grants; and financial distress grants. The comprehensive services which centers must provide are: inpatient, outpatient, day care, and other partial hospitalization services and emergency services; specialized services for the mental health of children; specialized services for the mental health of the elderly; consultation and education services; assistance to courts and other public agencies in screening catchment area residents considered for referral for inpatient treatment in a State mental health facility; follow-up care for catchment area residents discharged from a mental facility; transitional halfway house services for catchment area residents discharged from mental health facilities or who would require inpatient care without such halfway house services; unless there is insufficient need, or the need is otherwise being met, specialized programs for the prevention, treatment, and rehabilitation of alcohol and drug abusers, alcoholics, and drug addicts.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Planning grants to assess area needs for mental health services, design a CMHC program, obtain financial and professional assistance and support for the program and encourage community involvement. Maximum support is $75,000. Grants for Initial Operations provide up to 8 years of financial support (on a decreasing, deficit basis) for centers meeting all requirements. Support for centers in poverty areas is provided at a higher level of funding. Existing centers may opt to receive staffing grant support under former provisions of the CMHC Act, but must provide all required services within 2 years. Grants for Consultation and Education Services begin with the fifth year of a center's operation unless the Secretary determines that C&E services could not be provided in the third and fourth year without such a grant. Grants may be made to non-federally funded centers which are providing all other required services. Conversion grants may be provided for a maximum of 2 years to centers funded under the former Act to enable them to provide additional services mandated by this legislation. Financial distress grants may be provided for up to 3 years to centers whose original staffing or operations grants have terminated because of statutory limits as to funding period and which demonstrate that without such support they would have significant reduction in quality of services or be unable to provide all required services. Facilities assistance support will be allotted to states to pay for the Federal share of projects for acquisition and/or remodeling of center facilities, leasing; construction of new or,expansion of existing facilities in poverty area; the initial equipment of a facility acquired, remodeled, leased or constructed. No funds are available in fiscal year 1977 for this program. JOINT FUNDING: This program is considered particularly suitable (eligible) for joint funding with other closely related Federal financial assistance programs in accordance with the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-III.
For programs that are not identified as particularly suitable or eligible for joint funding, applicant may consult the headquarters or field office of the appropriate funding agency for further information on statutory or other restrictions involved.

assurance programs, medical records systems, professional advisory boards, etc., and (c) has an acceptable plan for the provision of all required services within 2 years after the date of the receipt of the

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

To develop viable urban communities including decent housing and a suitable living environment, and expand economic opportunities, principally for persons of low income and moderate income.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Generally, as in the case of entitlement grants, most activity previously eligible under the categorical program consolidated under the Act, and defined by the statute and regulations may be carried out, i.e. acquisition, rehabilitation or construction of certain public works facilities and improvements, clearance, housing rehabilitation, code enforcement, relocation payments and assistance, administrative expenses, and completing existing urban renewal projects. Communities are restricted, from constructing or rehabilitating public facilities for the general conduct of government and certain community wide facilities, i.e. central libraries, stadiums, sports arenas, cultural centers, convention centers; and from underwriting the cost of constructing new housing or of making housing allowance or other income maintenance -- type payments. JOINT FUNDING: This program is considered particularly suitable (eligible) for joint funding with closely related Federal financial assistance programs in accordance with the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-111. For programs that are not identified as particularly suitable or eligible for joint funding, applicant may consult the headquarters or field office of the appropriate funding agency for further information on statutory or other restrictions involved. Discretionary grants are made on a competitive basis to units of local and county governments and to States on behalf of units of local government, which are not eligible for Community Development Block Grants (CDBG) Entitlement Funds, OMB 14.218.

CDBG Funds may be used for construction of, rehabilitation of, and site acquisition for "centers for the handicapped." The funds may also be used for the demolition of existing structures, conversion of existing structures and barrier removal for "centers for the handicapped." A "center for the handicapped" is defined as ... any single or multipurpose facility which seeks to assist persons with physical, mental, developmental and/or emotional impairments to become more functional members of the community by providing programs or services which may include, but are not limited to, recreation, education, health care, social development, independent living, physical rehabilitation and vocational rehabilitation, but excluding a facility, the primary function of which is, to provide residential care on a 24-hour day basis (such as a group home or halfway house). For example, a sheltered workshop would be a single purpose center for the handicapped, and a facility providing several services for the handicapped would be a multi-purpose center for the handicapped, both of which are eligible for assistance.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

Project Grants.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

APPLICANT ELIGIBILITY:
Applicant may be eligible for grants from one or more of the three sources of discretionary funds: 1. Urgent Needs Funds: a special fund intended to help in bridging the gaps between old categorical programs and the new block grants.

BENEFICIARY ELIGIBILITY:
See applicant eligibility.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

To support employment and training studies needed to develop policy and programs for achieving the fullest utilization of the Nation's human resources; to develop, through actual project operation, new ideas and improved techniques, and to demonstrate the effectiveness of specialized methods in meeting the employment, and training problems of worker groups particularly difficult to employ.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

(1) Research projects are for the purpose of development of employment and training knowledge with special emphasis on generalized policy and program applications. Studies may be limited to special areas only where they can be shown to provide a basis for generalized conclusions or to have application over a wide area. (2) Although service is not the primary function of experimental and demonstration projects, the demonstration population participating in them receives services specific to the project design. Projects focus on distinctive training or employment problems which are not being met effectively by established employment and training service programs and seek to determine how to meet such problems through new techniques. Funds can be used to finance all operating costs required by specified project designs (such as administrative costs, training, counseling, recruiting, job development, and placement). (3) Experimental and demonstration funds are concentrated on developing new techniques which might significantly guide overall policy and programming. They are not available to extend methods developed in some areas or occupation (even though such projects might have distinctive elements and be useful for the particular area) or to make up for what essentially are inadequacies in the level of resources available for manpower programs. Research and development projects facilitating the implementation of CETA State and local employment and training program operations are encouraged. Such projects should be of general applicability. JOINT FUNDING: This program is considered particularly suitable (eligible) for joint funding with other closely related Federal financial assistance programs in accordance with the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-111. For programs that are not identified as particularly suitable or eligible for joint funding, applicant may consult the headquarters or field office of the appropriate funding agency for further information on statutory or other restrictions involved.
TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

Project Grants (Contracts).

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

APPLICANT ELIGIBILITY:
Academic institutions, State and local government organizations and other organizations and individuals capable of fulfilling the objectives of the programs. There are no formal guidelines or conditions grantees must meet other than that they have demonstrated financial responsibility and competence to fulfill the terms of the contract or grant.

BENEFICIARY ELIGIBILITY:
In the case of research projects beneficiary eligibility is same as applicant eligibility. With respect to experimental and demonstration projects, eligibility is determined by the specific design of each project; this is a function of the objectives of the project and the characteristics of the target group.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

(1) Research Projects -- made in the form of a proposal that complies with specific guidelines obtainable from the Employment and Training Administration Office of Research and Development. (2) Experimental and Demonstration projects -- preliminary proposals or full formal proposals may be submitted directly to headquarters office. No specific format required. For some types of projects, Research, Demonstration, and Experimentation requests for procurement may be issued; these specify application procedures for the particular project. This program is subject to the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-110.

SECTION III
DIRECT PAYMENTS, DIRECT LOANS
AND
GUARANTEED OR INSURED LOANS

Introduction

The financial assistance programs described in this section provide either a direct cash payment to a disabled individual, his beneficiaries, or to a service provider; or, loans, either direct, guaranteed or insured, for assisting a disabled person in the purchasing or adaptation of a home, automobile or for starting a business. This section described four types of direct financial payment and loan programs designated D, C, E, or F.

(D) Direct Payments with Unrestricted Use: Payments go to individuals who meet certain eligibility requirements such as level of income and assets for Supplemental Security Income payments, or miners afflicted with Black Lung Disease. The money can be used for any purpose the individual sees fit.

(C) Direct Payments for Specific Use: Payments by the Federal Government go directly to individuals, private firms, and institutions (such as hospitals and nursing homes) to pay for specific purposes such as medical expenses, or to purchase an automobile for certain disabled veterans.

(E) Direct Loans are made to individuals for setting up a small business or to help disabled veterans to acquire suitable housing, or to private non-profit corporations and consumer cooperatives for construction or rehabilitation of rental housing for the elderly and handicapped.

(F) Guaranteed or Insured Loans: The Federal Government guarantees or insures lenders or employers against losses through default on loans they make to Federally endorsed groups or for Federally endorsed purposes. Numerous agencies and departments of the Federal Government administer the nearly twenty programs described in this section. The Veterans Administration (VA) also provides extensive programs of compensation for service-connected permanent or partial disability. Direct Loans are also available under the Veterans’s Housing Program for disabled veterans with other-than-dishonorable discharges from the service.
The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) administers two housing programs of relevance to persons with a disability. Under Section 202, direct loans are provided to eligible applicants for promoting the provision of suitable rental housing for physically handicapped or developmentally disabled persons. Guaranteed or insured mortgage insurance loans for home construction and remodeling are also administered by the HUD with specific eligibility provided for elderly persons and for persons with handicaps.

The Health Care Financing Administration administers the Medicare program, which provides direct hospital insurance payments for this specific use to persons over 65 and for some stipulated disabilities, such as kidney disease. Under the Social Security Administration's (SSA) Program of Disability Insurance, part of the potential earnings of a physically or mentally disabled worker may be replaced through unrestricted cash payments. The Supplemental Security Income program provides unrestricted direct cash payments specifically to blind, disabled or aged persons with limited incomes. A special program of unrestricted cash payments is also available through the SSA to coal miners disabled through Black Lung Disease. The Department of Labor's Employment Standards Administration administers a coal miners worker's compensation program as well.

Other programs described in this section include direct payment to foster and institutional care programs for handicapped children administered by the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Indian Affairs; a special rehabilitation program for Social Security disability beneficiaries administered by the HEW Office of Human Development Services; and, a program of direct loans and loan guarantees for handicapped-run companies administered by the Small Business Administration.
PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

To provide necessary rehabilitation services to more disability beneficiaries to enable their return to gainful employment.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

SECTION IV
NON-FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Introduction

This section contains descriptions of about two dozen Federal programs of non-financial Federal Assistance, such as handling of complaints, advice and technical assistance, information, and provision of specialized services. Programs may provide one or several types of such assistance, as designated below.

(K) Advisory Services and Counselling: Federal specialists make themselves available for counsel or advice/consultation with communities or individuals.

(L) Programs that publish and distribute specialized or technical information or data through clearinghouses, libraries or publication divisions.

(N) Investigation of Complaints: Claims made formally or informally charging that Federal laws, policies or accepted procedures have been violated are administratively investigated by Federal agencies. Claims must come from outside of the Federal Government.

(J) Provision of Specialized Services: Federal personnel perform services for the benefit of communities or individuals such as the operation of special VA programs.

(I) Use of Property, Facility and Equipment; such as the loan of books for blind and handicapped individuals.

(H) Sale, Exchange, and Donation of Property and Goods: Programs which provide for the sale, exchange or donation of Federal real property, personal property and other goods. Eligible recipients may be states, non-profit organizations, schools and institutions or individuals.

(O) Federal Employment: Direct assistance to handicapped individuals to obtain Federal employment is provided.

Non-financial assistance for persons with disabilities is an important but somewhat arbitrary category of inclusion since several programs listed in this section also are authorized to enter into grants or contracts or to provide specific-use case assistance. Read the text carefully under the heading "Types of Assistance" to ascertain whether or not a program may actually provide for financial support.
Several programs promoting or insuring compliance with disability antidiscrimination legislation under various parts of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 are presented in this section. For example, the Office for Civil Rights of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is charged with enforcing Section 504 prohibiting discrimination in federally supported activities. Related, affirmative programs are administered by the Civil Service Commission, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission; and, the Employment and Training Administration, and also, the Employment Standards Administration, each of the Department of Labor. Clearinghouse services are provided on general civil rights issues by the Commission on Civil Rights. The President’s Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and also the President’s Committee on Mental Retardation are actively engaged in informational work in a variety of areas, including civil rights issues related to their specific areas of concern.

Contained also in this section are descriptions of a variety of inpatient and outpatient services provided to veterans. These specialized services include special rehabilitation aid for the blind veteran, domiciliary care, home care, hospitalization, nursing care, prosthetic services and rehabilitation programs for alcohol or drug dependent veterans.

The disposition of real or personal property is described in this section. Both the General Services Administration and the Office of the Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare operate programs in which state or local governments or other specified entities are eligible for surplus property distribution programs. Emphasis is placed upon use of such donated property for health or educational purposes.

Books for persons with blindness or a physical handicap are provided by a Division within the Library of Congress and also through 56 regionally affiliated libraries and 98 subregional branches. Talking books, braille books, and talking book machines are utilized under this popular program.

Two other programs pertaining to drug abuse are described. The program of the Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare provides a program for civil commitment, treatment and rehabilitation of drug addicts who may often undergo this program in lieu of a prison sentence. Public education, and advisory and consultative services on drug abuse are provided to law enforcement agencies under a special program administered by the Department of Justice.
PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Board is primarily charged with assuring compliance with the standards of accessibility pursuant to the Architectural Barriers Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-480). Regulations approved in December 1976 were issued to implement Section 502 of the Rehabilitation Act 1973 P.L. 93-112. The Board is also responsible for initiating investigatory approaches into the nature of architectural and attitudinal barriers confronting the handicapped, particularly with respect to public buildings and monuments, parks and park lands, public transportation systems, and residential and institutional housing. The Board will also explore ways in which travel expenses to and from work can be met or subsidized when needed by the disabled as well as study and housing needs of the handicapped. In addition, the Board will determine activities of other government units, and public and non-profit agencies with the same concerns, and prepare proposals for bringing together groups whose cooperation is essential to effective and comprehensive action towards removing barriers to the handicapped.

Member agencies of the Board include the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, the Department of Transportation, General Services Administration, Department of the Interior, Department of Defense, Veterans Administration, U.S. Postal Service, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and Department of Labor.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

To enforce Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits Federal funds for programs that discriminate as to race, color, or national origin. Responsible for implementing Executive Order which prohibits discrimination in federally supported employment because of race, color, religion, sex or national origin. Also involves Titles VII and IX of the Education Amendments of 1972; the anti-sex discrimination provisions of the Comprehensive Health Manpower and Nurse Training Act of 1971; and the prohibition against discrimination against handicapped persons, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is responsible for assuring that HEW beneficiaries of federally-assisted programs receive benefits without discrimination. These benefits are provided through State agencies, school districts, nursing homes, skilled nursing facilities, medical laboratories, hospitals, colleges and universities, vocational centers, libraries, educational broadcasting facilities, day care centers and social service agencies, and recipients of Federal construction and non-construction contracts. Any person who believes that he or she has been discriminated against in the provision of these services as to sex, race, color, religion, national origin, or handicap may file a complaint of grievance with the Office for Civil Rights, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Office will investigate and take corrective steps to assure equal opportunity. Individuals may also file complaints of discrimination in education programs or activities receiving Federal financial assistance. The office investigates patterns of discrimination and practices affecting classes of employees to ensure that Federal contractors and subcontractors do not practice discrimination in employment on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, or handicap and that they take affirmative action to ensure that employees are treated without regard to such factors. Individual complaints about employment discrimination should be made to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The Higher Education Division is responsible for administering Title VI and Title IX for approximately 2,850 colleges and universities. Approximately one-third of these schools are also covered under Sections 799A and 855 of the Health Manpower and Nurses Training Act and Executive Order 11246, for which this Division's responsibilities are accomplished through on-site compliance reviews, complaint investigations and receipt of the biennial compliance report on student enrollment from all institutions covered. The Department is currently under court order in the Adams case to assure desegregation of the dual education systems in the southern and border states. Monitoring is required on eight states' desegregation plans and technical assistance provided when required. In fiscal year 1976, seven additional states have been added to this effort, increasing the number of institutions involved from 175 to 411, the number of regions involved from three to five, and the monitoring staff from eight to fourteen. During fiscal year 1976, the Manual for Investigation of Allegation of Employment Discrimination was completed and distributed and professional staff given intensive training in carrying out the program; this is expected to substantially increase the volume and quality of investigations (manuals) covering educational systems, and general employment reviews are reaching completion. During fiscal year 1977, the Division expects to increase the number of educational services reviews and investigations to 228 to keep abreast of the employment discrimination effort and to continue the monitoring of State desegregation plans which involve both the employment and educational services of more than 400 campuses. In addition, an analysis will be made of the employment profile of all the campuses based on the figures reported on the EEO-6 survey (conducted by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, although jointly planned by both OCR and EEOC for use by both agencies). The Fall 1976 (fiscal year 1977) survey of student enrollment will be conducted by the National Center for Educational Statistics, and an analysis of the results will be made in fiscal year 1978 to determine program direction and priorities.
For the years. Elementary and Secondary Education Division: During fiscal year 1976, ESED conducted investigations of 405 school systems under Title VI, three under Title IX, and 31 under the joint jurisdiction of Title VI and Title IX. Approximately one-third of these investigations involved on-site work. Also during fiscal year 1976, ESED resolved some 30 percent of the 1,180 complaints received in fiscal year 1976, or backlogged from previous years (a total of 689 Title VI complaints and 491 Title IX complaints). Program plans for fiscal year 1977 include the investigation of 221 school systems under Title VI, 10 under Title IX, and 77 under Title VI/Title IX joint jurisdiction. Roughly 40 percent of these investigations will involve on-site work. Greater emphasis will be placed on complaint investigations with the expected resolution representing approximately 40 percent of the total 1,718 complaints received in fiscal year 1977, or backlogged (1,002 Title VI complaints and 716 Title IX complaints).

Because of the program requirements and court-related mandates, the level of ESED's participation in ESAA during fiscal years 1977 and 1978 is currently undefined. Health and Social Services Division: In fiscal year 1976, the Health and Social Services Division conducted 2,400 pre-grant clearances, completed 541 technical assistance and liaison activities with Health and Social Services State agencies and investigated 250 complaints. The Division has begun a major effort to modify existing health and social services civil rights policies and to establish policy where voids are found to exist. In fiscal year 1977, the Division anticipates processing 1,200 pre-grant clearances and 250 complaints. In fiscal year 1977, the division anticipates processing 2,400 pre-grant clearances, investigating 375 complaints and initiating approximately 25 indepth reviews of health and social services delivery systems. The Division plans to publish guidelines for State agencies administering HEW health and social services programs and provide substantial technical support to 250 State agencies in meeting the requirements contained in these guidelines.

Contract Compliance Division: During fiscal year 1977, in view of the pending reorganization of the Office for Civil Rights and the allocation of resources to eliminate the complaint backlog, the Executive Order 11246 compliance program will be limited to reviewing the compliance of construction contractors in the 71 designated OFCCP plan areas and to monitoring the compliance of non-construction contractors who had previously submitted affirmative action programs. During fiscal year 1977, the Contract Compliance Division anticipates monitoring the compliance of 1,550 construction contractors in the 71 plan areas; the issuance of a Non-Plan Areas Construction Compliance Manual and establishing a construction compliance program in selected non-plan areas. The Division also anticipates conducting 165 compliance reviews of State and local departments delivering health and social services, as well as medical facilities and membership organizations holding Government contracts. New Programs (Discrimination Against the Handicapped, etc.): Primary emphasis has been on Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 which prohibits discrimination against physically or mentally handicapped individuals in federally-assisted
A proposed regulation was published in the Federal Register on July 16, 1976; final regulations are expected to be implemented in May of 1977. A series of initial reviews is underway to develop investigative and legal strategies for substantiating and documenting discrimination against handicapped persons. Until implementing regulations are in effect, the Office is proceeding, where possible, to investigate and resolve complaints of discrimination.

The OFCCP issued Standard Operating Procedures for aiding the regional offices in implementing the provisions of the two laws governing the program. The construction compliance program under Executive Order 11246 issued the Construction Compliance Operations Manual, which sets down detailed procedures for enforcement of the Executive Order in the construction industry. As of 3/1/77, there were 68 hometown plans, 6 government imposed area plans, and 25 plans with special bed conditions in effect. OFCCP issued limited final rulemaking, revising sections of 41 CFR 60-1, 60-2, and 60-30. Review of the regulations is continuing.

To place persons in employment by providing a variety of placement-related services to job seekers and to employers seeking qualified individuals to fill job openings.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

The United States Employment Service and its affiliated State agencies operate over 2,500 local officers to serve persons seeking or needing employment and employers seeking workers. The employment service is currently enhancing its placement capability by using computer technology to assist in matching applicants with job openings. General services to job seekers include outreach, interviewing, testing, counseling and referral to employment opportunities. Also, employment service staff in the local offices may be able to refer job seekers in need of specialized training or supportive services to local, State or Federal offices that are able to provide such services. General services to employers include providing a source of qualified applicants for job openings within the local area or, if necessary nationwide, and providing selected technical assistance in identifying and resolving internal workforce problems such as turnover, absenteeism, and special recruitment difficulties as well as assisting in the development of personnel management tools. The Employment Service system also provides specialized services which include: 1. Emphasis of services to special applicant groups such as veterans, migrant and seasonal farmworkers, handicapped job seekers, disadvantaged job seekers, youth, minorities and older workers. This includes special emphasis on counseling and assisting such workers to overcome barriers to employment which are unrelated to job performance. 2. Job information and service and labor market information. Job seekers and employers may obtain information pertaining to job opportunities, labor supply, labor market trends, the job market situation in particular industries, and the employment potential of unemployed workers and programs aimed at resolving these problems. 3. Certification of employer’s eligibility under Defense Manpower Policy No. 4 (DMP-4). DMP-4 allows employers in areas of substantial or persistent unemployment to guarantee to the Department of Labor that they will hire a certain proportion of economically disadvantaged relative to all new hires. In return, such employers receive preferential treatment in the awarding of Federal contracts. The Employment Service certifies eligible employers and provides a source of qualified, disadvantaged applicants. 4. Certification of eligibility for rural business and development loans. The Employment Service provides certification to the Farmers Home Administration that rural loans or grants for business or community development will not have an adverse effect on the labor market or economy of the area where the business or community is located. Details of the program are found in program 10.422 of this Catalog.

5. Trade readjustment assistance. The International Labor Affairs Bureau is the certifying authority for workers and businesses who claim to have been adversely affected by United States foreign trade policies. That process is described in program 17.400 of this catalog. Workers who have been laid off by firms which have been certified as adversely affected by foreign imports may receive specialized reemployment assistance and referral to training and supportive services from local employment service staff. JOINT FUNDING: This program is considered suitable for joint funding with closely related Federal financial assistance programs in accordance with the provisions of OMB Circular No. A-111. For programs that are not identified as suitable for joint funding, applicant may consult the headquarters or field office of the appropriate funding agency for further information on statutory or other restrictions involved.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

To provide standards protecting wages of working persons by requiring a minimum hourly wage rate, overtime pay, and equal pay for men and women performing the same or substantially equal work. Additional standards apply to child labor.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Federal wage and hour standards apply generally to employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce or in enterprises so engaged. For nonfarm covered employment the minimum hourly wage is $2.30, with time and one-half required for hours worked over 40 in a work week. To the extent necessary to prevent curtailment of employment opportunity, certificates authorizing special minimum wage rates are issued for learners, handicapped workers, full-time students, student workers, and apprentices. Failure to comply with the child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act may result in an assessment of a civil money penalty not to exceed $1,000 for each violation. Employees of contractors performing on most federally financed or assisted construction projects, or providing goods or services under contract to Federal agencies, are subject to standards. These special standards require that employees receive no less than the wages and fringe benefits prevailing in the locality as determined by the Secretary of Labor, and that daily and weekly overtime compensation be paid. The Standards apply to performance on direct Federal contracts and also the most construction projects financed in whole or in part by the Federal Government (e.g., projects under the Revenue Sharing Act of 1972 and National Housing Act). For Federal and federally assisted construction and Federal service contracts subject to prevailing wage requirements, contracting agencies must request a wage determination.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

Advisory Services and Counseling; Investigation of Complaints.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

APPLICANT ELIGIBILITY:
Any covered employee, unless specifically exempt, is entitled to be paid in accordance with applicable monetary standards. For U.S. supply contracts over $10,000, applicant must be eligible as a manufacturer or regular dealer (41 CFR 50-201.101).
BENEFICIARY ELIGIBILITY:
Same as applicant eligibility.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

Persons having knowledge of wage and employment practices which are not in compliance with the minimum standards of these acts, and persons requesting additional information concerning these standards, are encouraged to write, telephone, or visit the nearest Wage and Hour Division Office listed in the appendix. Information should be provided describing the type of business and the nature of the work performed. The names of persons making inquiries are treated in complete confidence. For Federal construction contracts or Federal service contracts subject to prevailing wage requirements, the contracting agency must request a wage determination from the Wage and Hour Division. The wage determination must be furnished to bidders and is made a part of the contract.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

A program to insure that developments resulting from Government-sponsored aerospace research and development are made available to widest extent practical and appropriate for the nation's benefit. Among the goals of NASA's Technology Utilization Program is to promote an awareness of developments in medical, scientific, and educational communities. Biomedical Application teams assist medical and clinical researchers in defining technical problems and solving them using NASA developed technology.

Examples of assistance: NASA and the Children's Hospital at Stanford University developed miniature sensory/transmitter to accurately diagnose the extent of spasticity in persons with cerebral palsy to help determine appropriate corrective surgery; a pocket size optical scanning device was developed that allows persons who are blind to identify denominations of American bills; NASA and the Retina Foundation of Boston developed a tiny surgical tool which is expected to improve cataract surgery and reduce postoperative infection.

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS

Innovations, inventions, and improvements developed in the space program are brought to the attention of the public in several ways. NASA Tech Briefs is a free, indexed, quarterly journal containing articles which describe such innovations. Technological advances of special significance or complexity are published in the NASA SP series. NASA sponsored Industrial Application Centers offer specialized technical information services tailored to meet the needs of local industry, and NASA's Computer Software Management and Information Center (COSMIC) offers government computer programs to the public.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The NASA TU program has helped many industrial, educational, and governmental organizations develop new products, increase productivity, and reduce costs. Typically, the Technology Utilization Program provides user access to aerospace technology in support of technical problem-solving. For example, the Skylab heat pipe system, being adapted and applied to a thermal control system on the Alaskan Pipeline, will help maintain structural integrity and control the environment by preventing uncontrolled freezing and thawing of the permafrost. (In 1976, the six NASA Industrial Application Centers had approximately 80,000 clients interactions with industrial users). A new model from a major automobile manufacturer has been developed with the help of the NASTRAN computer program, one of 1,600 programs available from COSMIC, the Technology Utilization Office's software center. Domestic firms purchased 172 programs and 3,100 items of related documentation of $204,000, contributing greatly to the nation's industrial productivity. During the past year, more than 2,500 individuals and firms were given access to the NASA research in practical solar heating and cooling systems for housing in response to one of 525 Tech Briefs published in 1973. Over 6,000 technical innovations from the space program are now available for use by American industry.
