Introduction

In determining how, or whether, offenses should be assigned a severity level, the Commission will consider how district courts have generally sentenced the offenses, along with the maximum penalty established by the Legislature, rankings for similar crimes, and other relevant information. The Commission has intentionally left a number of felony offenses unranked.

When crimes are unranked, it may be because they are so seldom charged that no sentencing patterns are discernible, because they are new crimes that are not easily comparable to existing offenses, or because the offense encompasses such a wide range of behavior that it is best to allow the sentencing court discretion in determining the severity level.

When an offense is unranked, the court must assign an appropriate severity level for the offense and specify on the record why that particular level was assigned. This ranking process is described in greater detail in Appendix 1, “Unranked Offenses,” on page 22.

The following section describes the sentencing practices for unranked offenses in general, detailing the frequency of each unranked offense and the severity level(s) assigned to it by sentencing courts. Due to the offense’s unique nature, the sentencing practices for Aiding an Offender, Accomplice After the Fact—one of the most commonly occurring unranked offenses—are detailed in a separate section that begins on page 8.

General Sentencing Practices for Unranked Offenses

In 75 cases in 2017, an unranked offense was the most serious offense sentenced. This number represents 0.4 percent of all felony cases sentenced that year.¹ Two unranked offenses accounted for 59 percent of that volume: Counterfeiting Currency (Minn. Stat. § 609.632) (23 cases) and Aiding an Offender, Accomplice after the Fact (Minn. Stat. § 609.495, subd. 3) (21 cases).

The data below represent a summary of all unranked offenses sentenced between 1981 and 2017. If the severity level of an offense is listed as “N/A,” then no case has ever been sentenced under the Guidelines in which that offense was the most serious offense sentenced. Currently ranked, but formerly unranked, offenses are not reported here.²

² Effective August 1, 2006, third-degree criminal sexual conduct (Minn. Stat. § 609.344, subd. 1(a)), fourth-degree criminal sexual conduct (Minn. Stat. § 609.345, subd. 1(a)), use of minors in a sexual performance (Minn. Stat. § 617.246), and possession or dissemination of child pornography (Minn. Stat. § 617.247) are no longer unranked offenses. These offenses are now ranked on the Sex Offender Grid. Information on the ranking of these offenses committed prior to August 1, 2006, can be obtained by submitting a data request to the MSGC office at mn.gov/sentencing-guidelines/contact/data-requests.

To obtain any of the data below for specific years or for additional details not provided in this document, please contact the Sentencing Guidelines Commission at 651-296-0144 or submit a data request at mn.gov/sentencing-guidelines/contact/data-requests.

Sentencing Practices for Aiding an Offender, Accomplice After the Fact

This section gives statistics concerning 2001–2017 sentencing practices for the unranked offense of Aiding an Offender, Accomplice After the Fact under Minn. Stat. § 609.495, subd. 3.

The penalty for Aiding an Offender, Accomplice after the Fact, is dependent on the crime the offender has alleged to have aided. According to the statute, the accomplice may be sentenced to not more than one-half of the statutory maximum sentence that could be imposed on the principal offender for the crime of violence listed under Minn. Stat. § 609.11, subd. 9. (See Table 4 for a complete list of possible underlying criminal acts). Because this is an unranked offense, the sentencing court must assign a severity level prior to pronouncing the sentence. (See Appendix 1, “Unranked Offenses,” on page 22).

Case Volume

Figure 1 displays the number of offenders who were sentenced between 2001 and 2017 with Aiding an Offender, Accomplice after the Fact, as the most serious offense sentenced.³ There were 21 cases sentenced under this statute in 2017. There have been, on average, 23 cases per year since 2001.

Case-Level Information

Table 2 and Table 3 list detailed case-level information for aiding an offender, accomplice after the fact offenders. Table 2, which contains data for cases sentenced in 2015 through 2017, records the underlying criminal act and its severity level, but only if those facts are apparent on the face of the criminal complaint, plea petition, or other court record. When those facts are not apparent, details of the underlying offense are left blank. In Table 3, which contains data for cases sentenced from 2001 through 2014, details of the underlying offense are not recorded; instead, district court case numbers are provided for those who wish to obtain more information from court records. In Table 2 and Table 3, “12¹” equals 12 months and one day. Underlying criminal acts are abbreviated; refer to Table 4 for full offense names.

Appendix 1. How the Guidelines Work

In General

Minnesota’s guidelines are based on a grid structure. The vertical axis of the Grid represents the severity of the offense for which the offender was convicted. The horizontal axis represents a measure of the offender’s criminal history. The Commission has ranked felony level offenses into eleven severity levels. Offenses included in each severity level are listed in the Severity Reference Table in the Minnesota Sentencing Guidelines and Commentary.

The criminal history index measures the offender’s prior record and consists of four measures of prior criminal behavior: (1) a weighted measure of prior felony sentences; (2) a limited measure of prior misdemeanor/gross misdemeanor sentences; (3) a limited measure of the prior serious juvenile record; and (4) a “custody status” measure which indicates if the offender was on probation or parole when the current offense was committed.

The recommended (presumptive) guideline sentence is found in the cell of the sentencing grid in which the offender’s criminal history score and severity level intersect. The Guidelines recommend imprisonment in a state prison in the non-shaded cells of the grid.

The Guidelines generally recommend a stayed sentence for cells in the shaded area of the applicable Grid. When a sentence is stayed, the court typically places the offender on probation and may require up to a year of local confinement (i.e., local correctional facility, county jail or workhouse) as a condition of probation. Other conditions such as fines, restitution, community work service, treatment, house arrest, etc. may also be applied to an offender’s sentence. There are, however, a number of offenses that carry a presumptive prison sentence regardless of where the offender is on the applicable Guidelines Grid (e.g., offenses involving dangerous weapons which carry mandatory minimum prison terms, and drug and burglary offenses).

The number in the cell is the recommended length of the prison sentence in months. As explained above, sentences in shaded boxes are generally stayed probationary sentences. For cases in the non-shaded cells of the applicable Grid, the Guidelines also provide a narrow range of months around the presumptive duration that a judge may pronounce and still be within the Guidelines.

Unranked Offenses

Some felony offenses are designated as unranked offenses. An unranked offense typically has one or more of the following characteristics: (1) the offense is rarely prosecuted; (2) the offense covers a wide range of underlying conduct; or (3) the offense is new and the severity of a typical offense cannot yet be determined.

Minn. Guidelines Section 2.A.4 contains the Sentencing Guidelines’ policy for unranked offenses. When sentencing an unranked offense, the court must assign an appropriate severity level for the offense and specify on the record why that particular level was assigned. The court may consider, but is not limited to, the following factors:

- a. The gravity of the specific conduct underlying the unranked offense;
- b. The severity level assigned to any ranked offense with elements that are similar to the elements of the unranked offense;
- c. The conduct of and severity level assigned to other offenders for the same unranked offense; and
- d. The severity level assigned to other offenders engaged in similar conduct.

It is not possible to fully explain all of the policies in this brief summary. Additional information on the Guidelines is available by contacting the Commission's office. The Minnesota Sentencing Guidelines and Commentary is available online at <http://mn.gov/sentencing-guidelines>.

Appendix 2. Standard Sentencing Guidelines Grid, Effective August 1, 2017

Presumptive sentence lengths are in months. Italicized numbers within the grid denote the discretionary range within which a court may sentence without the sentence being deemed a departure. Offenders with stayed felony sentences may be subject to local confinement.

Presumptive commitment to state imprisonment. First-degree murder has a mandatory life sentence and is excluded from the Guidelines under Minn. Stat. § 609.185. See section 2.E, for policies regarding those sentences controlled by law.

Presumptive stayed sentence; at the discretion of the court, up to one year of confinement and other non-jail sanctions can be imposed as conditions of probation. However, certain offenses in the shaded area of the Grid always carry a presumptive commitment to state prison. See sections 2.C and 2.E.

² Minn. Stat. § 244.09 requires that the Guidelines provide a range for sentences that are presumptive commitment to state imprisonment of 15% lower and 20% higher than the fixed duration displayed, provided that the minimum sentence is not less than one year and one day and the maximum sentence is not more than the statutory maximum. See section 2.C.1-2.

Presumptive sentence lengths are in months. Italicized numbers within the grid denote the discretionary range within which a court may sentence without the sentence being deemed a departure. Offenders with stayed felony sentences may be subject to local confinement.

Presumptive commitment to state imprisonment. Sex offenses under Minn. Stat. § 609.3455, subd. 2, have mandatory life sentences and are excluded from the Guidelines. See section 2.E, for policies regarding those sentences controlled by law, including conditional release terms for sex offenders.

Presumptive stayed sentence; at the discretion of the court, up to one year of confinement and other non-jail sanctions can be imposed as conditions of probation. However, certain offenders in the shaded area of the Grid may qualify for a mandatory life sentence under Minn. Stat. § 609.3455, subd. 4. See sections 2.C and 2.E.

² Minn. Stat. § 244.09 requires that the Guidelines provide a range for sentences that are presumptive commitment to state imprisonment of 15% lower and 20% higher than the fixed duration displayed, provided that the minimum sentence is not less than one year and one day and the maximum sentence is not more than the statutory maximum. See section 2.C.1-2.

³ Prostitution; Sex Trafficking is not subject to a 90-month minimum statutory presumptive sentence so the standard range of 15% lower and 20% higher than the fixed duration applies. (The range is 77-108.)
