In this general connection, the board would renew its recommendation that district, probate and municipal judges should occasionally visit the institutions to which commitments are made from their respective courts, such visits to be made at least once a year at the expense of the state.

During the past two years the board has also encouraged visits by the general public to a greater extent than ever before, on the theory that the taxpayers of the state are entitled to know first-hand how the institutions are conducted.

It would also be of great benefit to all concerned if sub-committees from the legislature would visit the several institutions before the consideration of requests for appropriations is reached; for by this means alone can the most correct judgment as to the needs of the state's thousands of wards be reached.

Service and Discipline.

There has been marked improvement in the quality of service and in discipline on the part of the state's more than two thousand employes. A healthy rivalry has been encouraged through the medium of the quarterly conferences held in turn at the several institutions, and associations of department heads, such as the engineers and farm superintendents, have been organized with excellent results. A movement is now under way, through the co-operation of the state university, to insure registration of graduate state hospital nurses and place them on the same footing as nurses in general hospitals.

Compensation for State Employees.

The Board recommends that the Compensation Act be extended to cover employes of the state.

The state's employes ought to have as much consideration in matters of accident and injury as other employes and we see no reason why they should not have, under proper safeguards, the advantages of the Compensation Law. The Federal Government has lately brought all its employes under such a law.

A large proportion of the inmates of the prison and reformatory particularly and many in other institutions, are performing labor which is remunerative to the state. It is a question whether the consequences of accidents or injuries suffered while so engaged should not be a charge upon the industry or the institution affected, the same as would be the case with privately conducted industries.

The time may not be ripe for this step, but it would seem worth consideration.

Deportation of Alien Insane.

During the biennial period 250 deportations of alien insane have been made.

The United States authorities have been unable to make as many deportations abroad as usual, owing to war conditions. There are in our hospitals quite a number of aliens who will be deported by the government at its expense as soon as war conditions will allow.

The deportations made have saved the state $250,000, less the cost of maintenance and the expense of deportation. These two items will not aggregate $25,000. The net gain, therefore, is $225,000.

It will also be noted that 250 additional places are open for our own people.

Inspection of Jails, Lockups and Hospitals.

The reports of the inspector in this department show a satisfactory improvement in the condition of the buildings visited by him during the biennial period. During this period there have been inspections as follows: Jails, 193; lockups, 454; poorhouses, 78; hospitals, 504.

During the same period the board has approved plans for 9 jails and 19 lockups.

Death of Dr. Arthur C. Rogers.

Although the biennial period covered by this report passed without any changes in the chief personnel of the state institutions, the health of Dr. Arthur C. Rogers, for thirty-one years superintendent of the State School for Feeble-Minded, failed steadily during that time, although he kept in touch with his work until death came to his relief on January 2, 1917, just as this report was going to press.

Under date of January 2 the following resolutions were adopted by the State Board of Control:

Resolved, That the State Board of Control deploras the passing by death of Dr. Arthur C. Rogers, superintendent of the State School for Feeble-Minded for over thirty years;

Because he exemplified the highest type of the Christian gentleman in all the personal relations of life;

Because he was a devoted and helpful friend of the unfortunate of all classes;

Because he stood at the head of his profession as a scientific student and an expert authority on mental diseases;

Because as an administrator he kept ever in mind the right proportions between economical management and the best results to the souls and bodies of the state charges under his control;

Because of his ardent and unselfish devotion to the work in his chosen field, taking no thought of pecuniary reward and sparing no whit of his physical strength, even to the point of heavy sacrifice of both means and health.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Board of Control and that a copy of the same, properly engrossed, be presented to the widow of the late Dr. Rogers.

Analysis of Recommendations for Appropriations.

The Board of Control submits herewith, accompanying the budget of appropriations recommended for the biennial period ending July 31, 1919, for all institutions in charge of the State Board of Control, an itemized statement of such recommendations, with an explanation of each item; also a statement of support fund expenditures, per capita costs, and average population for the seven years ending July 31, 1916.

The figures for building and engineering items are based on estimates submitted by the state architect and the consulting engineer after investigation and consultation by the Board with the heads of institutions, the architect and the engineer. Preliminary plans and sketches for the more important buildings will be presented for inspection. The continued rise in the cost of building materials has necessitated an increase in amounts asked for buildings for which requests have previously been made, and this increase has had to be considered in the new recommendations. Again attention is called to the appropriations asked for fireproofing and reconstructing buildings. Better sanitation and real economy in repair are essential advantages of better buildings, and there is the further consideration that the state has adopted the policy, long urged by this Board, of carrying no outside insurance. Safety of life and property, good sanitation and little repair, make the fireproof building in most cases the cheaper building in the end.

Two years ago, for good and sufficient reasons, the legislature reduced or eliminated many items intended to provide increased accommodation for inmates of institutions under the jurisdiction of the Board. The result has been to accentuate the situation and make the present requests larger than they otherwise would have been. Believing that the people of the state do not desire lowered the high standards set by Minnesota in the care, training and general well-being of the wards in its charitable and correctional institutions we respectfully urge the most serious consideration of the needs presented.

Once more we call particular attention to recommendations for power plant improvements or additional equipment. Improvements of this nature mean economy through cost reduction and better operating results. Included will be found at nearly all institutions requests for auxiliary equipment for crushing coal for sampling purposes. Practically the entire tonnage of coal, 110,000 tons last season, is purchased on the B. T. U. system, payment being based on amount of heat units shown, and proper sampling is of vital importance.

There is recommended a considerable increase in the appropriations for current expenses, which include salaries and wages, provisions, household equipment and stores, clothing, fuel, light and water, hospital and medical supplies, postage and telegraph, instruction and amusement, traveling expenses, farm supplies and live stock, tools, implements and machinery, and other miscellaneous expenses. The growth in population in most of the institutions is constant, and along with this increase in population has been a steady rise in cost of all the necessities of life. The Board does not feel that it can assume that there is soon to be any considerable change in this situation. In some things it is doubtful whether there is likely to again be as low a price level as in recent years. In making the figures for maintenance the Board has endeavored to be moderate and conservative and has leaned toward the prospect of lower prices where it has seemed safe. We urge most strongly the approval of the figures for current support, as involving adequate care of the state's wards and continuance of present standards of supervision. Careful attention has been and will be paid to all possible economies, but the state cannot afford to take a backward step in these matters.

The largest items of expense are for salaries, food and fuel. The average population of all the institutions has increased 53 per cent since 1905 and the current expense expenditures have increased about 87 per cent in the same period. The period has been marked by a steady advance in prices for food, clothing and other articles, as well as increases in salaries and the establishment of several new institutions: the State Sanatorium, the Home School for Girls, the Hospital for Inebriates, and the Hospital for Crippled Children. The net increase in average cost for each person fed in the institutions has been 35 per cent in the period from 1903-04 to 1915-16, and this is the second largest item in current expense. Reductions in current expense mean reduction in salaries, wages and food quality, since these are the largest items. This certainly would not be desirable. We hope that our recommendations for current expense will be approved, knowing that what the people of the state desire is not skimping, but an intelligent and economical use of every dollar appropriated. Had it not been for the wise provision made by the legislature in allowing the surplus amount at one institution to be used at another, some of our institutions would not have been able to get through the last fiscal year.

The budget is in total the largest ever submitted by this Board, amounting to $7,758,900.00, yet it does not include a number of very desirable improvements which the Board felt must give way to others more urgently needed. The situation in regard to the insane and the feeble-minded, comprising considerably over half of the state's wards now in institutions, is particularly serious, and will need the most careful consideration.

On August 1, 1916, there were 5,839 inmates of the five institutions for the insane, with a capacity of 5,595. Buildings and improvements under way will increase this capacity by 171, making a capacity available of 5,766. The average rate of increase in population of the insane is a trifle less than 4 per cent a year for the last ten years. This would mean an estimated population on August 1, 1919, of 6,600, or a deficiency in accommodation of 834. If all the recommendations that will mean more accommodation for patients are approved, 450 will be cared for, leaving still a deficiency of 389, which means a continuance of overcrowding and unhealthy congestion. This would seem to make at least imperative the granting of the additional accommodations asked for the insane, who constitute the largest class of the state's wards. This should be done even though another hospital be authorized or a change made in the inebriate hospital.

The School for Feeble-Minded had on August 1, 1916, a population of 1,469 and a waiting list of 300, and it is estimated that there are 10,000 feeble-minded in the state, not including epileptics. Of these at least 2,000 are women of child-bearing age. In proportion to the number needing care, Minnesota makes better provision than any other state in the Union, but the problem is still far from solution. It is more and more understood that much of crime, pauperism, insanity and other ills of society are bound up with feeble-mindedness.

For the present it would seem wise to make some further provision at the institution to relieve the pressure, and our recommendations, if approved, will make provision for about 350. By the time this provision is made, there would be as large a waiting list as ever. There are disadvantages to a large institution in the matter of quality of supervision, which many believe offset the advantage of lessened cost per capita. The time has arrived for serious consideration of the problem and the fixing of a definite policy for the future. The granting of the Board's request will alleviate conditions and permit during the next two years the formulation of a policy covering this subject, which is of the most vital importance to the state.

Respectfully submitted,
STATE BOARD OF CONTROL,
C. J. SWENDSEN, Chairman,
R. W. WHEELOCK,
CHAS. E. VASALY.
